Junior Development Plus

This program is designed for intermediate tennis players who want more than a season of league lessons but aren't ready for Junior Development 2 or Excel. They may be considering or just starting tournaments and have some USTA or league experience.

The program focuses on proper fundamentals, including groundstrokes, serve, volleys, and footwork. Doubles strategy and positioning will be taught in the fall and spring semesters. Specific social skills, such as good sportsmanship, honesty, self-control, and handling disappointments, will prepare students for their future lives.

Key training aspects include:

Various drills to improve ball striking ability, movement and shot selection, shot tolerance.

Learning the directional rallies.

Practicing basic patterns of match play.

Beginning work on advanced skills, such as taking the ball out of the air, and on the rise.

Continental grip, spin and placement on the serve.

Volleys and overheads.

Focus on proper fundamentals and technique.

Refine the foundations of match play.

During inclement weather we work on fitness, mental training and goal setting.

Learning and practicing good sportsmanship.

To be considered for advancement, players must attend at least 3 hours of group training weekly and start competing in tournaments.
